That Was Then

Remember when bobby socks and saddle shoes were in? Remember when mini skirts and go-go boots were the main fad? Remember when the twist was the biggest dance and you just couldn't wait to get the next Beatles album? Remember the big hoola-hoop craze and all the anti-war peace movements? Well of course you don't because, "That Was Then."

I'll bet you've never stopped to think that all of this went on right here at Norwell and right now we as students are making our own history, our own memories, and our own, "That Was Then."

Times have certainly changed since this Christmas dance in the early 1970's.

This is Now!

Gone are those ever attractive white go-go boots and polyester bell bottoms. Remember those lovely leisure suits and platform shoes, or would you rather forget the fashions of the 70's along with Evel Knievel? Remember the days the music teacher showed the class how to do "the hustle" and everyone just loved it? Yuck!?

1987. The more the blue jeans are ripped and faded, the better.

Bows, inspired by the newly titled Duchess of York, are in and they seem to be popping up on every girl's head. The best way to finish off an outfit is with Reebok hightops or a pair of colored flats.

Top 40 radio stations are very popular. If you are lucky enough, you can hear the number one song three times, in just one hour. Amazing! Many students like to listen to the "metal" sound while others choose to listen to alternative music. What better way to listen to the new music than on a compact disc player. Digital sound is now, wow!

Now is 1987, but as soon as the year changes, 1987 will just be another memory, a page in a scrapbook. Welcome to tomorrow, the future, and yesterday, the memory.

STUDENT LIFE

High school is a time for finding out about yourself. It is also a time for "hitting the books." But the times students remember most are those spent with friends participating in "extra" activities, clubs, and sports. Some of these are sponsored by the school, while others take place in a community or church group. These are the times when students can be themselves and learn what other people are really like. They make high school a very special period of four years that is never repeated or duplicated, but is always remembered. Even the bad times are recalled with a smile, for high school is not a building at all. It is a wealth of memories.

Nights of Endless Knights

The Knights lost their Homecoming football game to Heritage 13 to 12 in overtime, but that didn't dampen the Homecoming spirit at the dance which followed. People who attended the dance were charged a two dollar admission fee by Student Council, which sponsored the dance. Captain Chris from WMIE provided the evening's music which started the Homecoming Dance.

Last year's King and Queen, Andy Binkley and Amy Frauhiger, were present for the 1987 festivities. This year's Queen nominees were Becky Babcock, Kelli Ratchelle, Sharice Shiger, Judy Smith, Sara Spann, Diana Starr, and Stephanie Woodward. The King nominees were Erik Dalton, Marc Gavilanez, Ronnie Macklin, Tony Mills, and Jeff Reed. The King and Queen, chosen by the study body, were Marc Gavilanez and Becky Babcock. The Knights dance ended with the hit song, "Let's Go Crazy" by Prince.

The “IN” FADS

The year 1969 was the year it all began here at Norwell High School. The fads in 1969 were mini skirts, cat eye glasses, and patent leather shoes. The fad in the early 70's was the disco, which now, in 1987, has led to hard rock and roll. The fads change over the years from cat eye glasses to contacts, from patent leather shoes to high heeled pumps, and from Izod sweaters to Forenzas. After 20 years, the environment of society and of the Northern Wells Community Schools has changed along with the fads. Despite all these changes, learning is still in

Role of Honor

The Drama Club, under the watchful eye of Director Ken Low, had its best year ever while producing a fall play, a series of one-acts, and the musical "Grease." Drama Club participation was good, and most students were pleased with their experiences.

In the fall, the Drama Club presented "Rumbo," a spoof of the hit film "Rambo." This two-act play brought over thirty people together for two months to work toward a single goal. When October arrived, every minute of preparation paid off as the general public was treated to a two-night showing.

The winter one-acts was a series of short plays chosen, cast, and directed completely by students. Dena Johnson, Shawna Schocke, Kim Simerman, and Dan Thiele served as the student directors. The shows they selected were: "I Must Be Somebody, It Says So In My Horoscope" (Johnson), "The Legend of Raikes Cross" (Schocke), "Kiss Me Quick, I'm Double Parked" (Simerman), and "Beyond the Door" (Thiele). At the conclusion of the one-acts, Mr. Low hosted an awards ceremony. The awards and their winners were: Best Newcomer — Stacie Boone ("Beyond the Door"), Best Supporting Actress — Tommie Tracey ("Beyond the Door"), Best Supporting Actor — Jeff Simerman ("I Must Be Somebody, It Says So In My Horoscope"), Best Actress — Rachelie Woods ("Kiss Me Quick, I'm Double Parked"), Best Actor — Chris Brown ("Beyond the Door"), Best Director — Kim Simerman ("Kiss Me Quick, I'm Double Parked").

With spring came the usual warm air and the renewal of romance for most people this year, but for Drama Club members it also meant a new challenge: the musical "Grease."

For "Grease," Mr. Low enlisted the help of a full production staff. Mrs. Sue Coolman and Mrs. Becky Lambert managed the music and choreography, and Tim Roberts and Jeff Simerman ran the technical aspects of the show. Low directed all acting, as he had for much of the year. "Grease" brought out the best in the drama members. It also was a great setting for practical jokes. Mike Tomlin found a foreign substance on his shorts one day at practice. Then, during dress rehearsal, several club members discovered worms in their shoes. No one seemed to know exactly who was at fault. On opening night, however, it was business as usual. Everyone was ready to do a first class job, and that is exactly what the sell-out audience witnessed two nights in a row. At the close of the finale, directors and seniors were presented with flowers in appreciation of all their hard work. As cast members said their final farewells, underclassmen began to anticipate next year's shows, and graduating seniors could look back on many happy memories.

CLUBS

Clubs are one thing practically all schools have in common. Through the many years Norwell has been in existence, clubs have always been there to bring people together and to join friends in fun activities. Many clubs have been around from the beginning such as, Sunshine Society, Hi Y, Art Club, and Bowling Club while others such as swimming, Brass Impact, and Chess Clubs adjust to the new and changing Norwell. As time goes on many clubs will be added to Norwell's extra-curricular program but we will never forget the clubs that got us where we are now.

The Chess Club meets during homeroom to discuss their strategy.

Helping Out

This year the Norwell Sunshine Society pledged themselves to help others. In September, the student body and community elected Penny Queen. The proceeds from the fund raiser were used to send a child from the community to Camp Riley, a camp for handicapped children.

The Sunshine Society sponsored several fun-filled events. In December, the organization held its annual Christmas Dance, which was open to all Norwell High School students

This year's motto was "Others." Sunshine gave its members many chances to experience new challenges, make new friends, and learn more about themselves. They spread sunshine and good cheer wherever they went. By doing this, they brought happiness into their own lives. The Society did many things to make our school and community a better place through service for others

Everybody's Learning for the Future

This was the second year for the Norwell Home Ec Club sponsored by Mrs. Hamilton. Some of the activities that were on the agenda for the year included a meal at Pizza Hut, a visit from one of the employees of the Koala Center, and a taste of Oriental fried rice and Won Ton Soup, which was prepared by Hiroko Ohta, during a demonstration of traditional Japanese cookery. As a fundraiser for the Home Ec department, members of NHC sold cookbooks and kitchen items.

FFA was busy this year. At the National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, its members won several of the contests. Arriving back home, FFA members teamed up for basketball as they prepared for Judging Invitational, the State Meat Judging Contest, and the Leadership and District Judging Contests. Then, in March, came the event of the year: the awards banquet.

Splashes of Paint OF Water

The Art Club planned many exciting activities. At Christmas they painted windows at Pizza Hut. In return for doing that they were treated to free pizza. A second activity they planned for themselves was painting the chairs in the Art room. Swim Club had a successful year. One of their successes was the annual corporation auction. When they decided to send a bid to the corporation, theirs was picked from hundreds of others. When their bid was picked, they conducted the sale by selling equipment from the corporation. They received 70% of the profits to raise money for the club. A second activity was the marathon swim. That's where the swimmers got pledges and swam as many laps as they could from 8:00 a.m.-12:00 a.m. They used those profits to purchase a touch pad system. Both activities for the Swim Club proved to be very successful.

Foreign Language Clubs are for students who wish to experience another culture by speaking the language and by participating in the club's activities.

German Club took a trip to Chicago where they visited the Museum of Natural History and the Water Tower Mall. In the spring they competed at a Foreign Language Festival against other students in events using the German language. They also had a Christmas party and a Faschingstanz, which is similar to the Mardi Gras.

The members of the French Club ate out at Le Gourmet in Fort Wayne. In December they ate Croissants, played French games, and sang carols in French at the annual Christmas Party.

Spanish Club first elected their officers. They saw a Spanish fine arts production in Fort Wayne. They also ate out at a Mexican restaurant.

Foreign Language Week was a new event at Norwell this year. There were several events, one of which was the poster contest. Others were the bake contest and the breakfast on Friday. During the week, each day was designated to a certain language, and the students ate a lunch originating from the host country. Altogether, the week was a big success and will be repeated next year.

Eat your heart out, Phil Collins. Beth Geisman gets the beat at a basketball game.

Quality, not Quantity

Members of Brass Impact are, without a doubt, the best that Norwell has to offer. There are approximately 35 members in this year's group. But, of course, it's quality, and not quantity, that counts. Entertainment is Brass Impact's middle name. Under the direction of Randy Gilmore, members performed at all home basketball games and at the ACAC basketball tourney at the Ft. Wayne Memorial Coliseum. A wide variety of songs was performed at the games. These included Chicago's "25 to 6 or 4," and others such as "Tequila," and "Champion." The ever popular "Bud" was not performed this year.

DRAMA

STAGE AND CHESSBOARD

The Drama Club had a busy year full of activities. They did a spoof on Rambo called Rambo. They had a night of One Acts including a mystery, drama, and two comedies. The Drama Club also performed the musical Grease, which was a first for Norwell. The Club went to see The Curious Savage performed at The Presbyterian Theater in Fort Wayne. They also visited South Bend where they attended a special drama competition for state hopefuls.

The Chess Club also had a busy year. Competing against Huntington, Wayne, Jay County and others, they placed in the top nine in North District. With the help of Mr. Dormer, the club's sponsor, they even got to go to state competition.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Governing Body

Student Council is made up of three students representing each class and their faculty sponsor Mr. Carter. Student Council sponsors many events throughout the school year. It spends hours organizing and planning the Homecoming Dance and King and Queen competition, trying to make each year the best Homecoming ever. At the beginning of the school year, Student Council takes charge of the class officers elections. Members collect and calculate the ballots from each class and then post the results.

At Christmas time the Student Council sponsored the Christmas Fund Drive. The money raised by each homeroom goes toward feeding the needy families of Wells

County. In February and March, the Student Council members get health-oriented; it organizes the Bloodmobile and Focus On Health Day at Norwell. To mark Valentines Day special, students or teachers could purchase carnations from Student Council for some special. Remember the benches in the commons we had throughout the past year, Student Council has taken funds from the pop machine and is using them to purchase more benches so there is more room to sit. Although Student Council is a small organization, it takes on a lot of tasks and completes them to the best of their ability.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Recognizing Young Leadership

National Honor Society is an organization which recognizes the top students of the Senior and Junior classes. Service, leadership, character and GPA are the criteria considered for membership in the National Honor Society. The academic competency, or GPA, for both Senior and Junior members is 8.5 (or a high B).

At the beginning of the school year, there were eleven members. The officers last year were Erik Dafforn, President; Jack Bentz, Vice-President; Rachelle Woods, Treasurer; and Angie Yake, Secretary. Other members were Becky Babcock, Brian Dettmer, Marc Gavilanez, Erin George, Brian McGreevy, and Dan Thiele.

On April 24, 1987, twenty-six new members received keys. There were two Seniors and twenty-four juniors. Those who received keys were Beth Geisman and Cindy McCormick, Seniors; Julie Babcock, Amy Baker, Daren Brockelsby, Mike Brown, Beth Crellin, Wendy Felger, Jenny Gass, Kent Hanauer, Jeff Hansen, Kari Hobbs, Lynne Kinzer, Michelle Lovell, Steve Mahner-Smith, Kami Morris, Julie Nahrwold, Tonya Nash, Jenny Pfeifer, Anje Rinehart, Karla Saalfrank, Tracy Salyers, Kim Simerman, Kelly Steele, Eric Tucker, Abi West, juniors. At the induction ceremony on May 7, the new members signed the register and then received their cards and pins.

At graduation this year, the top ten wore gold cords, while the rest wore white ones.

Starting next year, Mrs. Reed says that the group will begin to be more active at school and in the community than they have been in the

Success. Victory. Pride. These are important words when it comes to sports at the Castle. Perspective, though, is the biggest word of all.

Sports at the high school level are intended to give student athletes a chance to engage in healthy competition and to learn about themselves. Dedicated coaches teach fundamentals of a sport, but they also teach teamwork and sportsmanship. Athletes develop form and technique, and, at the same time, they develop character and class. Above all, Knights who engage in extra-curricular activities attempt to make positive reflections on Norwell High School. When they achieve these goals, winning becomes all the sweeter. And that's the way it should be.

This is Now. Comme à l'habitude, Coach Lewis provides the sidelines with a strike.

That was Then. Let's talk guys. Coach Lewis also went on to discuss his strategy with the team. Meanwhile, Coach Kinsey keeps an eye on the nets.

Football Breaks Even

Early on the morning of August tenth, the parking lot slowly began to fill with tired, but dedicated members of the Norwell varsity football team. Their conditioning lasted throughout the month of August, right up to the jamboree on the twenty-second.

"At the beginning of the year we knew we'd have an inexperienced team, I just wanted to break even as far as the record was concerned," stated Coach Gary Scott. The Knights did just that and finished the regular season with a record of 4 and 4. The Knights started the year with two wins, one over Homestead, and another over Carroll. Their first loss was to Woodlan, but the following week they crushed Southern Wells by a score of 34-13. They then lost a heartbreaker to Bluffton by 1 point, and did the same Homecoming week to Heritage, by a score of 13-12. Norwell then split the last two games of the regular season with a big win over state-ranked Adams Central and a loss to Muncie North.

The Knights began Sectional play on the 24th of October by traveling to Angola. The Norwell team won big by a score of 36-6. Norwell then hosted Plymouth the following week and stayed alive in Sectional play by winning a decision of 29-14. The Knights then traveled to Northwood to compete in the Sectional finals. The Knights lost to Northwood by a score of 7-13, in their final game of the season. They ended the season with an overall record of 6-5.

The most valuable player award went to senior quarterback Jeff Reed who, along with the best offensive player, Erik Dafforn, led the offense to a season total of 218 points. Best defensive player went to senior Kelly Carney.

J.V. Has Best Season Ever

For the first time in Norwell's history, the Junior Varsity football team went unbeaten, and completed the season with a record of 7-0. "I am not sure how they did it, but they always found a way to win," quoted coach Gary Scott. "We never expected to be undefeated. We were extremely pleased." The Knights' potent offense was led by sophomore quarterback Jim Walmsley.

This year's Freshman football team also had an outstanding season, and finished the season with a record of 5-1-1. Their only loss came in the final game of the season to a tough Homestead squad. "The kids were very coachable. We anticipated a good year, and were pleased with the results," quoted coach Jerry Carter.

Rebuilding the Team

The 1986 Varsity Girls volleyball team had a tough act to follow. Six seniors contributed heavily to a 25-6 record last year, and now they were gone. Coach Vickie Snyder's young team posted an 8-21 record, but proved to be a very hard working team. Coach Snyder felt that the record was very deceptive. "This was our year for rebuilding. The record may show how young we really are, but if you look, many games were close." The team improved throughout the season, making it all the way to the championship game of the Sectionals. Individual honors went to Lynne Kinzer for MVP, Amy Dettrick for Mental Attitude, and ACAC honor mention for Laura Moser and Lynne Kinzer.

Running With Experience

The Norwell Knights Cross Country team finished well on the season. They had a record of 59-12. Besides going to Semi-state, they accomplished many other feats. They were Bi-county "champs," 2nd in Sectionals, 2nd in Regionals, and 6th at Semi-state

Seniors Ray Ball and Jack Bentz were the leaders on the Knights CC team. Ray led the team by being first for the Knights many times. At Semi-state he finished 16th. Jack placed 47th at Semi-state while finishing strong throughout the season. Juniors Aaron Womack and Troy Ely helped the team when the going got tough. Aaron was 11th at Semi-state, while Troy helped the team to a good finish. Sophomore strength was provided by Nathan Huss and Ken Deetz. Nathan placed 64th at Semi-state with the time of 17:16. Ken was a first year runner who placed well in many meets. Running With the Knights

The Norwell girl's cross country team started the year with hard work and high hopes. The team began the season with five returning varsity letter winners, and a roster of eleven runners. But as the season went on illness and injuries narrowed the team down to seven.

The team finished the season with an overall record of 84-13 and a dual meet record of 8-1. Their only loss went to Woodlan, which they revenged by placing ahead of Woodlan at the ACAC meet. "One of the goals of the season was to win against Woodlan, the girls worked hard to accomplish it," quoted coach Dahl. Another goal was to get out of sectional. The team missed getting out by 3 points, but Debbi Ramseyer made it out, as an individual, by placing 4th in the meet. Debbi continued her way to the state meet by placing 10th at the regional which gained her a state berth in Indianapolis. She finished the season by placing 20th at the state meet gaining all state honors.

Senior Lisa Heyerly got the mental attitude award, and for the second year in a row Debbi Ramseyer captured the MVP. The seven varsity runners that made up the team were as follows. Seniors Lisa Heyerly, Pam Bowersock and Kristina Koenig, Juniors Dena Johnson and Wendy Felger, Sophomore Debbi Ramseyer and Freshman Dani Bentz.

Good Foundation Built

The varsity girl's basketball team, under the coaching of Neil Kinsey, finished the 1986-87 season with an overall record of nine wins and eleven losses. Beth Geisman, the one senior on the squad, provided leadership throughout the year. The rest of the team consisted of nine juniors, three sophomores, and one freshman.

"We played our best towards the end of the season and during sectional play," commented coach Kinsey. "We have built a good foundation for next year."

The junior varsity team ended the year with an outstanding record of twelve wins and only four losses. Sophomore Jami Buzzard led the team in free throw percentage and in total points with an average of 8.31 points per game. Lori Rupright, also a sophomore, pulled down the most rebounds over the season with a total of seventy-eight.

The freshman squad used the 86-87 season as a learning experience. They finished the year with a record of three wins and seven losses. They are hoping to have gained valuable experience for future teams. Heidi Bauermier led the team in field goal percentage.

Pepping Up the Crowd

The Norwell cheerleaders were selected after a long day of tryouts. The freshman cheerleaders selected were Kim Gerber, Holly Munson, Tiffany Wilkin, Stephanie Wilson, and Doris Geisman. The J.V. cheerleaders were Debra Schoenherr, Tria Schindler, Kathy Toliver, Suzy Kleinknight, and Tammy Ramseyer. The varsity cheerleaders who were selected were Amy Tinkel, Amy Fisher, Renee Adams, Kelli Ratcliffe, and Tina Quackenbush. The varsity boys were Ronnie Macklin, Todd Reed, Mike Tomlin, Matt Huffman, and Steve Nash. The cheerleaders raised funds by selling buttons and had a great success. The cheerleaders did a good job pepping up the crowd. Debra Schoenherr was asked about her likes and dislikes of cheering. She said, "I love to meet people. The long season is hard on cheerleaders but I enjoyed it."

A Rewarding J.V. Season

The J.V. boys basketball team came away with a very good season this year. With a 13-7 record, the J.V. Knights also won the A.C. A.C. conference. The team enjoyed a slight advantage in average points per game. Their opponents averaged 40 points per game while the Knights were at 42. Dave Hanselman, Jim Walmsley and Eric Eversole led the team in points scored.

A mixture of sophomores and freshmen proved to be the right combination. Dave Hanselman was the team leader in rebounds and Brett Ratcliffe was the leader in assists. In all the 1986-87 season proved to be very prosperous.

"For a basically new team, we did pretty well," quoted coach Daphne Tomlin. The gymnasts that competed in ACAC and Sectional competition were. Tammy Davis, Nicole Ellis, Doria Geisman, Missy Meade, Debra Schoenherr, Amy Septer, and Sheila Urshel. Most Valuable Gymnast award went to Nicole Ellis and the Mental Attitude award went to Debra Schoenherr.

As a freshman at the 112 weight class, Jason Musser showed a lot of effort with 8 pins and a 14-11 record. Jason also placed 3rd in the Manchester Invitational. Junior Eric Tucker had an outstanding season. Eric wrestled 138 weight class. He finished 1st in the South Adams Sectional, 2nd in the Snider Regional, 3rd in the Goshen Semi-State and also was a state qualifier. He finished his season with a 30-3 record and 18 pins. Eric captured many awards this year. He was awarded most valuable player, most pins (18), most takedowns, most nearfalls, and was the only state qualifier. Another award went out to Steve Mahnensmith for the fastest pin, which he had in eight seconds.

Eric Tucker struggles to pin his opponent.

On the Right Track

The girl's track team had a fine showing this year. Their record was 5-2, which was good for winning only 4 seniors. The seniors were Becky Bock, Pam Bowersock, Tonya Gerber, and a Heyerly. Junior Michelle Morpew had an excellent season running the 100 and 200 meter dash, and in the 400 meter relay. Michelle placed first in the 100 and 200 in the A.C.A.C. She also advanced to regional in both of those events. Sophomores Lori Bailey and Amy Dettmer also ran sprints and showed good effort. They both ran on the winning 400 meter relay team at A.C.A.C. Debbi Ramseyer advanced to regional in the mile and 2 mile.

In A.C.A.C., Debbi placed 3rd in the mile and 2nd in the 2 mile. As a sophomore, Ramseyer showed that she is cut out to be a distance runner. Beth Mills and Melinda Gerbers both threw shot and disc, taking turns winning all season. Mills won shot in A.C.A.C. and Gerbers took 2nd. They both advanced to regional in shot put. Coach Gary Scott was asked how he thought the team did. He quoted, "I think the team did pretty well. I expect to do even better next year with the larger amount of seniors and better leadership to push the team harder!"

13th Consecutive ACAC

The 1987 boy's track team turned in another great season. Congratulations to the team for winning its 13th consecutive ACAC title. Norwell dominance has come through again on the track. People like Shawn Chaney, Bruce Rice, and many others put out their personal best to help the Knights to post a winning record.

Hard practice, determination, and desire to win over the course of one season of meets produces many rewards. The Knights's track team did well in many relays, and stomped their competitors in the ACAC conference.

Swinging Guys

Trudging around the golf course day after day is not as easy as it seems. Golf takes just as much concentration and determination as it does skill and physical ability. Any member of the Norwell golf team can verify these facts. The golf team practices 5 days a week at the Parlor Country Club.

The top five golfers make up the varsity team, while the top 4 varsity scores become the final score at a golf meet. This year's golf team is made up of all underclassmen and is looking forward to a bright future. According to Coach Mike Gilbert, 'They have the ability, they just haven't reached their potential yet.' This year's golf team finished the season with a record of 7 wins and 6 losses. The Junior Varsity squad completed the year with an outstanding record of 5-1.

Smashing Success

This year's girl's tennis team broke new ground and achieved its goals in the 1987 tennis season. The girls played for the first time in the Dekalb Invitational, and even though they didn't win it, it was looked upon by the team as a learning experience. One of the highlights of the season was making it to the sectional finals. Singles player, Lynne Kinzer, and the doubles team of Chelle Woods and Vicki Golden were named to the ACAC all-conference team. Most Valuable Player went to Lynne Kinzer, and Beth Crellin received the Mental Attitude Award. The Varsity team finished the season with a record of 8-7. The Junior Varsity team finished the season with a record of 8-2-1.

Regional Win Caps Season

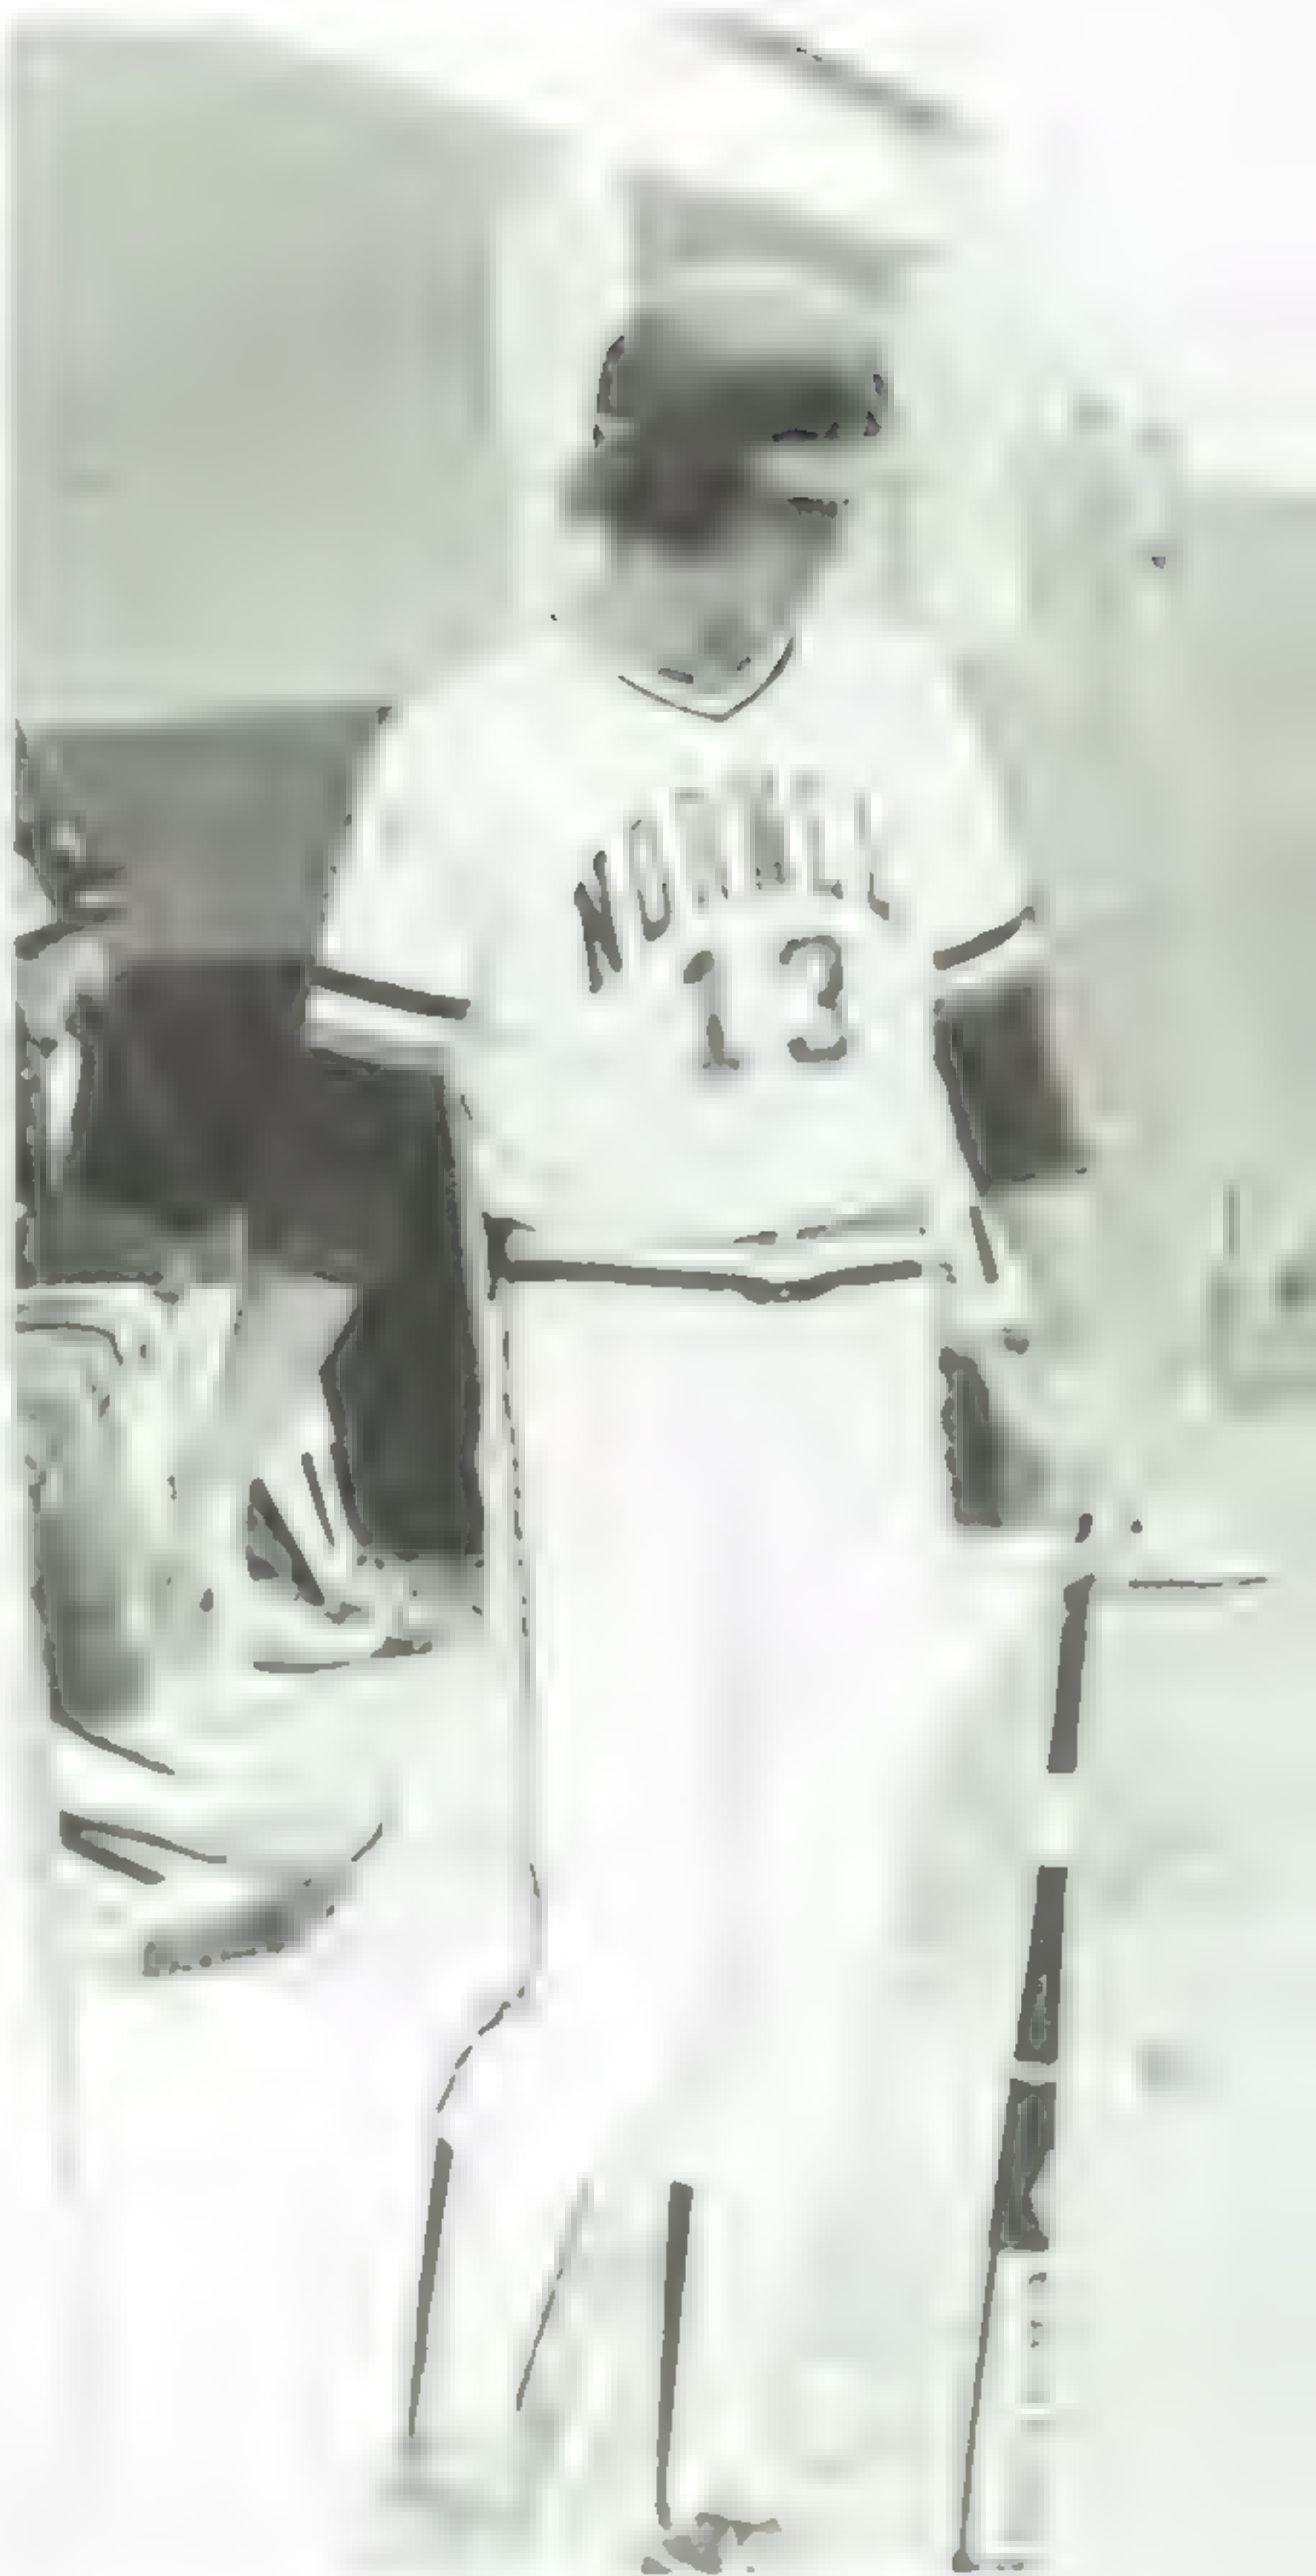

Two stunning upsets at the rain delayed Belmont Baseball Sectional brought Coach Stan Reed's ballclub a successful end to what was, at times, a frustrating season.

The Knights spent most of the early part of the season trying to find just the right player at the right position. Many hard-to-swallow losses in the first part of the campaign paid off the latter part of the schedule as the gloves and the bats came together with almost perfect timing for the sectional.

Juniors Jason Kessler and Ryan Milholland led the team in hitting although many other players contributed key hits and RBI's at crucial moments. Senior Eric Hentz had three homeruns on the season, two of those being grand slams. He also led the team in RBI's with 19, followed by Milholland with 17. Five players gained honorable mention in the ACAC. They were pitcher Jeff Hansen, infielders Jason Kessler and Jim Walmsley, and outfielders Ryan Milholland and Mark Netherland.

In his fifth year as skipper, Reed and the rest of the Norwell Baseball team overcame more than their share of adversity. But when they took the field and concentrated on doing their collective best, they showed they had what it takes to be real winners.

Senior Todd Reed gets ready to warm up to bat outside of the dugout.

Shaving their numbers into their heads became the fad for the football players when they advanced to the sectional finals in the fall.

PEOPLE

Things change after time, music, fads, clothing, and lots of other things, but nothing changes as much as people. Their attitudes and thinking change from generation to generation, from year to year, and day to day. In today's society more things are open to teenagers, and we are more aware of things around us. From the beginning of Norwell until now, changes have been taking place in the student body and will keep on changing as we move on throughout our lives.

Freddy Freshman's Adventure

"Freddy Freshman clutches his duffle bag as he climbs off the bus. He slowly opens the doors and walks into the big new world of high school. This is Freddy's first day of school. No longer does he have the authority and respect that comes with being the oldest in the school, nor does he have the feeling of power because of it.

Although you may not have that feeling of power or respect, a new feeling comes along with being in high school. This is the feeling of being more mature and older. It may take a little while to adjust and learn to conquer the busy halls but I'm sure you'd agree, it's a welcome change.

They Are Back!

After surviving their first year as freshmen, they are back. The sophomore class of '89 once more attempts another year at Norwell. Although the classes may be a little tougher, this year should be easier as they know the busy halls and flow of high school. We asked a few sophomores how they liked their sophomore year. Jim Walmsley was one of our questionees. His reply was, "My sophomore year has been filled with many great times, and I am looking forward to more in my last 2 years of high school." Lara Decker replied, "Although my classes are a lot more challenging, I feel more accepted as a sophomore."

Many sophomores look forward to getting their licenses, making the grade, and dating. Others look forward to basketball season, football season, and other sports. Whatever you choose, good luck and have a great Junior year!

Juniors Have A New Attitude

At last, they have made it! After many years of dedication, the junior class is on its way to finishing high school.

This rowdy group spiced up this year with a different attitude. Good times and wild fun was a predominant philosophy for the juniors this year. They have good reason to let their hair down and get wild. Being a junior has its hardships and joys that require a little celebration.

Juniors found that having a license means that a car must follow. Of course, to have a car one must find some means of supporting the heap, so employment is very important. Then there is school. Searching out colleges and taking the SAT's can make anyone want to go out and party. One must also keep a social life that is respectable.

We will all remember the junior class of 1987 and their crazy pranks in the years to come. What a class it was!

In The Air Tonight

For most students the Prom is an opportunity to escape from the routine weekend activities. It's a chance to dress up, go out to eat, and stay out until the next morning that only happens once a year.

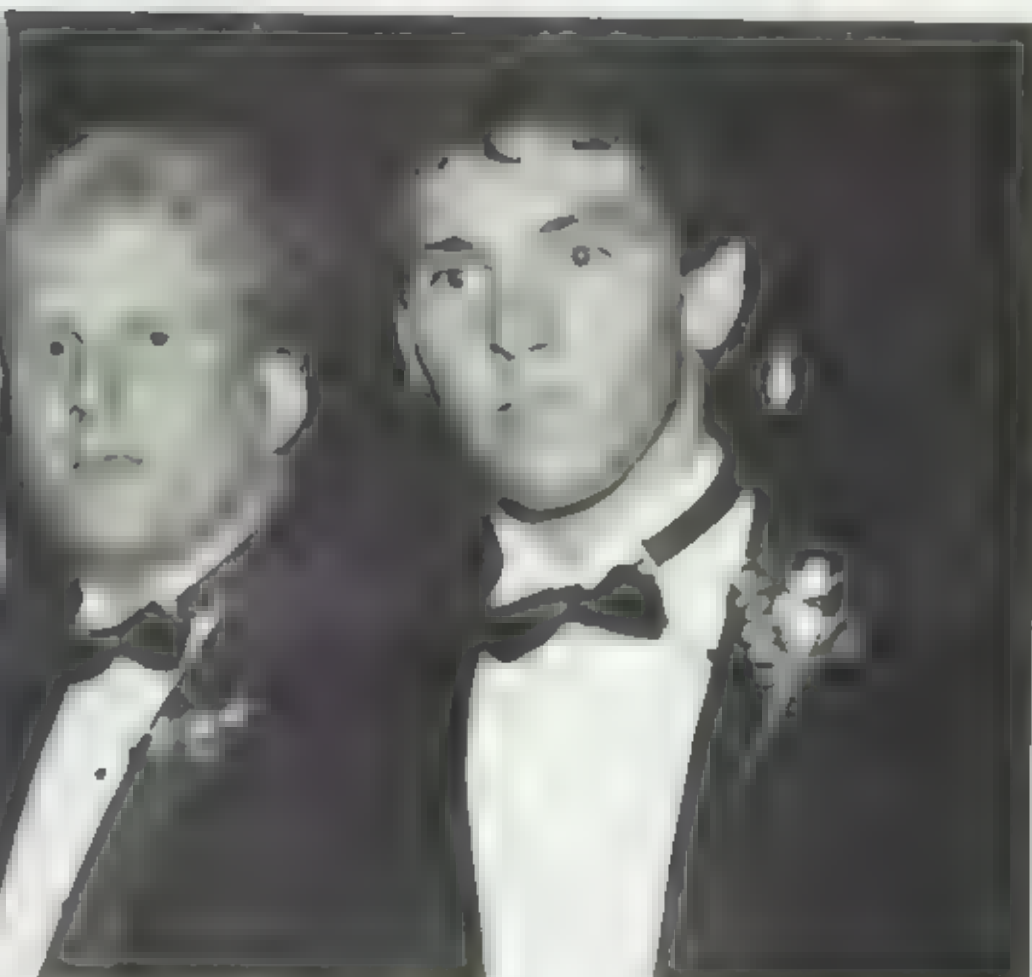

This year's Prom was held at the Lantern. The theme was "In the Air Tonight" and the colors were midnight blue and silver.

When the time had come for the crowning of the King and Queen, all of the candidates were nervously awaiting the decision. The candidates were Erik Dafforn, Marc Gavilanez, Sean Hoopengardner, Jeff Reed, Becky Babcock, Lori Coker, Becky Jump, and Judy Smith. The difficult decision was finally made and Erik Dafforn and Becky Babcock were crowned King and Queen of 1987's Prom.

After the final dance, students went their separate ways for after Prom parties. This year's Prom had finally come to an end.

No sense of humor! The Prom King and Queen, Becky Babcock and Erik Dafforn have just been selected.

After Prom Is Big Success

This year's after prom party turned out to be a great success. Many students showed up not knowing what to expect. They took their chances, but it was very much worth it. Many parents of the students helped make everything turn out well. They helped with the games and the refreshments, which were all great. The games and events that took place were blackjack games, lucky cards, videos, dancing, movie watching, prizes, and an auction.

Each student was given a bundle of play money for the auction, students could play games and increase their money by winning. When the auction began, students started spending their money on a variety of things. Bidders could purchase tanning bed visits, free shopping sprees at Southtown Mall, calculators, a small refrigerator, a typewriter, a VCR, a TV, a stereo, and Honda jackets. Before entering the gym, each student was given a pair of socks to wear and to take home in remembrance of the post prom party. Matt Huffman won a certificate of fitness and power for having the sexiest legs. When the night got late and everyone ran out of energy, many refreshments were served so everyone could pig out! After students ate, they enjoyed the movie Top Gun which was being shown on a video tape. Those who stayed at the all night after prom party spent the next day recovering and preparing themselves to go back to another day of school, but it was a night to remember. Students were asked if the after prom party was worthwhile and many thought it was a good idea and would like to see it back again next year!

Not an End, A Beginning

Graduation Day is one of the most awaited days in almost everyone's lifetime. The graduating class of 1987 consisted of 161 students who were all more than ready to graduate. After the seniors entered the gymnasium, senior class president Dan Thiele delivered the invocation. Then, Mike Tomlin gave his Salutatorian speech. Tomlin was followed by the senior choir, which sang "Letting Go." Afterwards, Chelle Woods presented her Valedictory address. The popular slide show was next, bringing back memories of the past year. The presentation also brought forth much laughter and a few tears. Finally, the time came for the distribution of the diplomas. This was probably the most awaited part of the entire ceremony. Some seniors presented Dr. Salsbery with one last marble to remember them by. After Reverend Starr's benediction, the whole thing was over. Twelve years of blood, sweat, and tears had finally earned the big payoff. In the commons after the ceremony, graduating seniors said their last farewells. Then with somewhat mixed feelings, they separated paths and headed toward that first open-house party. Congratulations and Good Luck to the graduating class of 1987.

Lorraine Tillman is one of many graduates who posed after the ceremony for her parents so they could snap pictures of this happy moment.

All good things must end. Kent Gilborn and Vicky Golden watch quietly as Curt Ellis walks out during the recessional at graduation.

The celebration began. As the graduates turned their tassels and were pronounced formally graduated, the air in the gym was filled with toilet paper, streamers, caps, and various other items to celebrate the momentous occasion.

Mr. Dormire opened the graduation with some remarks about the class of 1987 before introducing the salutatorian for his speech.

Mike Tomlin and Chad Zerula, two members of the top ten, look solemn and anxious as they enter the gym for graduation.

Many graduates display different reactions to Senior Class President Dan Thiele's invocation.

Rev. Greg Scott shared the benediction with the graduates.

Graduation Day is a day you never forget. This is probably even more true for Beth Geismen who will always remember graduating on crutches.

The second row of graduates watch anxiously to see if they are ready to sit down.

Mr. Dormire and Dr. Salisbury look solemn as they lead the graduation procession.

Anxious graduates approach the stage and Dr. Salisbury to receive their diploma and hand him a quarter, a marble, or some vaseline, as Mr. Dormire read their names.

With a Little Help From My Friends

The life of a high school student can be very hard. With all the homework, career plans, and social events a student has plenty to keep him busy. If you are among the lucky, you have friends to help you on your way. Having friends can be very beneficial to a person. They can listen to your complaints, give you advice, stick to your side when you are in trouble, and laugh at your jokes when nobody else does.

Yes, high school can be hard, but with a little help from your friends you'll make it through with flying colors.

Will somebody please help me? Andy Thompson works hard at homework.

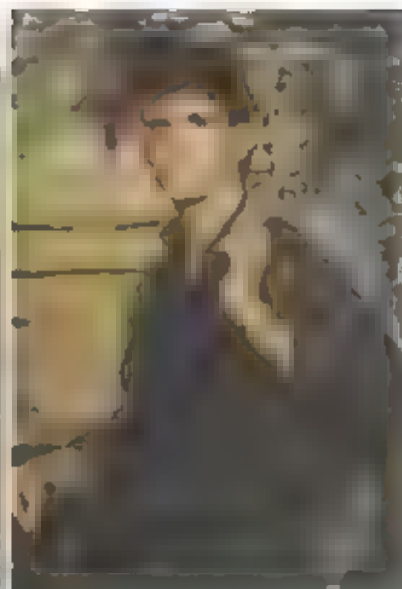

Hey kids, let's share homework! Andy Houn, Becky Babcock, Julie Tinkel, and Sheda Ursh give a group effort when working.

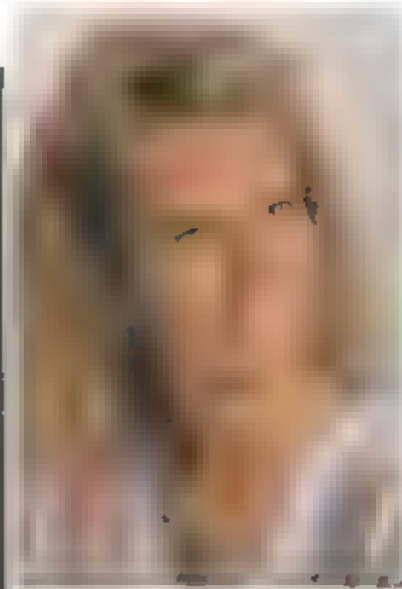

Senioritis affects all seniors eventually. Yvonne Cayot, Ray Ball, and Karen Reef show their spirit during Homecoming week. This silliness was carried out through the entire year by all seniors.

Anyone for a punch? Steve Schumacher and Dan Thiele try on Oscar's gloves for size.

SENIORS

Senior Power

Senior power prevails over all activities at the Castle. With all the years of dedication a senior earns the right to flex a little muscle now and then. Along with the obvious advantages there are a few disadvantages. Seniors are bombarded with choices. What college to go to, what job to get, and how to pay for all this are some of the questions seniors must answer before the end of the year. With the power that comes with being a senior also comes the ever dreaded responsibilities of adulthood. Lost is the ability to push your way around when you become a senior. It's back to the bottom of the heap.

Nobody told me we would have to do this when we were seniors! Becky Jump is awestruck with senior responsibilities.

Here's to You, Here's to Me

After thirteen years of work, the senior class has finally made it to the top of the hill. Perhaps it would be better to say that they have made it to the top of a foothill, for a mountain lies ahead. This mountain, with all its ups and downs, is life. Throughout their lives, parents, teachers, administrators, friends, and family members, have helped them on their way, often making decisions for them. Now starts a new era in the seniors' lives. This will be a time to make decisions and a time to take full responsibility for those decisions. It is important that the seniors keep an eye on the peak of the mountain as well as remembering past experiences.

Grab your climbing gear seniors, and prepare for a steep ascent. When you stop to catch your breath for the next challenge life delivers to you, take some time to toast yourselves. Here is to you and me, to all our successes and failures, here's to our lives.

Watch out Hugh Hefner! Randy Steele gives the Bunnies some competition.

Hummmmm, how was that supposed to be done? Penny Suman puzzles over some homework.

And the Teachers Said

Patrick Henry once said, "Give me liberty or give me death." This famous quote has been remembered throughout time. Here at Norwell we may not have such notable quotes, but there are some oft used phrases. As one meanders down the Castle corridors, one can often catch these tidbits of wisdom. Perhaps the following are recognizable and things of this nature."

"O K. lute darlin's, crank those hummers out."

"Give that person an 'Arraboy

"Could you substantiate that answer?"

"You have got to get your priorities straight."

"I'll give you two for nothing."

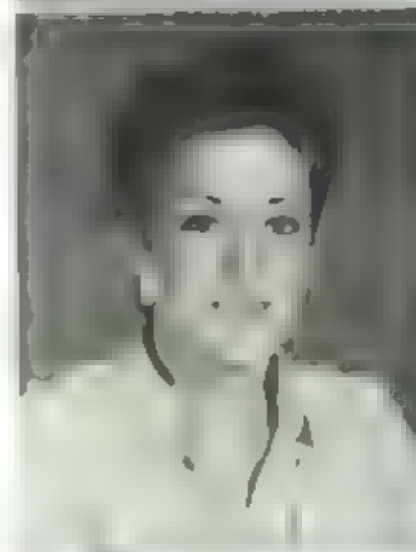

It may be that none of these "quotable quotes" will ever go down in history as deep and meaningful pleas for freedom, but they have become a part of life at Norwell

Moser New Vice

This year students noticed a change in administration. Mr. Dan Moser was appointed vice-principal. At Norwell, the vice-principal's major responsibility is to assist the principal, Mr. Lex Dormire, with the various facets of building administration. We talked to Mr. Moser about the change and some goals in administration for the years ahead. He said, "It has been a very trying year. I've been scattered thin. There are so many things that need to be started. Time is our biggest enemy. We would like to begin a SADD chapter and an Ala-Teen, but all of this takes time." When asked if he missed teaching, he replied, "I miss teaching very much. I don't get to talk to the students as much as I'd like, or the teachers." When asked if there was anything he would like to put in the yearbook he said, "I wish all the seniors the best. I hope all their dreams and goals become reality. For underclassmen, I hope we can help establish their goals and aims."

Secretaries at Norwell play an important part of administration. They plan, organize, and prepare major events of administration. Behind every great administrator is his secretary.

Guidance is a vital part of each school. Counselors help you plan your class schedules, and they may also assist you in a personal problem. Our guidance counselors are Mr. Jerry Carter and Mrs. Linda Reed.

Members of our administration are Mr. Lex Dormire, principal; Mr. Dan Moser, vice-principal; Mr. Rex Decker, athletic director; and Mr. Jerry Carter, guidance counselor. Not pictured is Mrs. Linda Reed, guidance counselor.

ADMINISTRATION

Behind the Scenes

We make cracks on the cafeteria food, but most of us eat it. What would you do if there weren't any cooks to make that food. It's pretty good for a dollar, what can you expect? The cooks come in early in the morning so we can eat. But what thanks do they get, "This food is barfy," "These aren't beef, they're soybean!" It's pretty amazing, somehow we manage to eat it.

People don't pay much attention to the "behind the scenes" people. They are the people who take care of the school. They clean up your messes after sports events, fix your lockers when they're stuck and pick up all your gum and candy wrappers when you throw them on the floor. These people are the custodians. They keep the school clean and fix the things that need to be fixed. So, the next time you feel the urge to clean out your locker and leave all your old papers, pens, or whatnot on the floor, remember who has to clean it up!

Academics

Reading, Writing, 'Rithmetic — things haven't changed since Grandpa went to school. The three "R'S" may have given way to a more rounded liberal arts philosophy, but book learning has remained an integral part — indeed, the focal point — of a Norwell High School Education. Academics gives each student the opportunity to explore a world of knowledge and to develop his mind to its fullest potential. Only in the United States of America is this opportunity so vast, so sweeping. Our Founding Fathers, believing that an educated people would remain a free people, set up the first public school system with this as their objective. Grant unto each child equal access to the gates of knowledge for the success of this democracy depends upon our posterity. Textbooks have changed since then, but not ideals. At Norwell, each student develops an awareness of the world around him. After four years, the student has a foundation of knowledge upon which he can build a productive and self-satisfying life.

Say It "Write"

Communication is the most essential asset in the human race. It doesn't matter whether it is spoken, written or drawn. It remains the most important form of human interaction. This communication has become an art used to express oneself. In speaking and writing proper English, or any other language, you explain where you come from and where you go in life

At Norwell everyone can and does benefit from learning English, literature, and foreign languages. Some of these classes are Modern Literature, English Literature, and American Literature. There are also Composition classes one and two. Norwell also has a Public Speaking class, as well as three foreign language classes. French, German, and Spanish. Norwell students have always benefited from these classes, and we hope they always will. English and literature are major facets of communication

Get — Down to — Business!

The business department was quite popular this year. Many students took the secretarial courses like Keyboarding and General Business. There were also quite a few students who took other business courses like Accounting, Recordkeeping, Business Machines/Computers, Business Law, Retailing, and other courses. There were many underclassmen who took the business courses as well as the upperclassmen.

Social Studies courses were also popular this year. Many students took the required courses such as U.S. History, Government, and Psychology or Sociology although many students took the social studies electives such as World History and World Geography.

Basic Math to Physics

Books lay open, paper and pencils rest on the desks as students listen to teachers explaining their subjects

The math department offered a wide variety of math courses ranging from basic math to a more complicated course like Trig and Calculus. These classes were feared by some and enjoyed by others, but whatever course they took it prepared them for a future education or job.

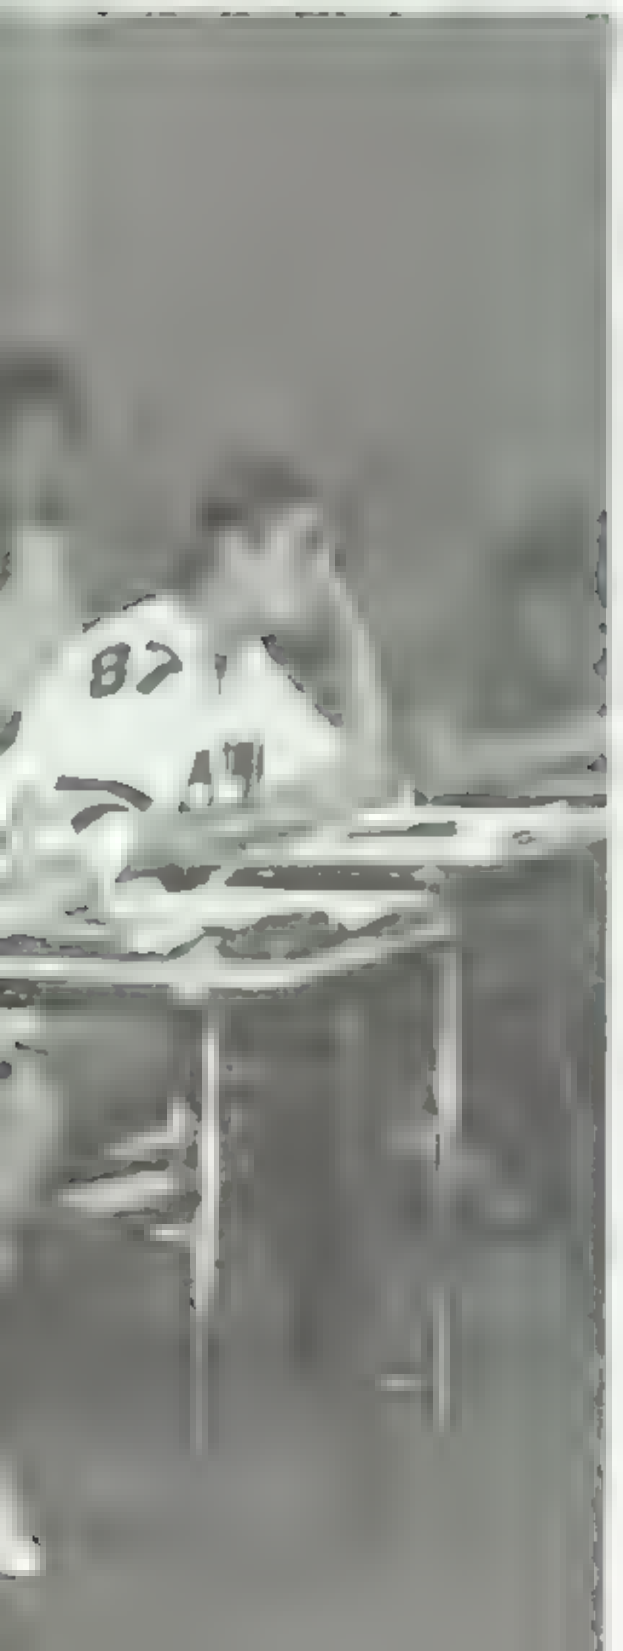

The science department also offers a wide variety of classes from General Science to Chemistry II. Most people didn't like science classes too well, but they were enjoyed by many too. All-in-all the students had many informative moments and learned a lot

More Healthy Knowledge With Physical Bodies

Rushing into the locker room, changing into your blue and gold uniform, and running out to stand in line for attendance. Does this sound familiar? It should sound like freshman P.E. Many freshman students look forward to the break in their boring class schedule. Some of the sports include flag football, badminton, swimming, softball, and the ever exciting activity square dancing. All sophomores know the required one semester of health is upon them this year. Good ol' Mr. Scott promises to teach you all you wanted to know about your body. But some students chose to take the course during the summer and miss out on all the fun!

Sewing Up the Art!

Through the year the Home-Ec classes baked candy, pie, pizza, and watched food demonstrations. They made different items in the sewing classes such as dresses, shirts, pajamas, and skirts.

There were a variety of classes which many students partook in such as Home-Ec I, Home-Ec II, Senior Home-Ec, and Family Living.

The Industrial Arts class also learned many skills. They learned to draw, create, repair, and think. They learned the skill of arc and gas welding which might be used in a future career.

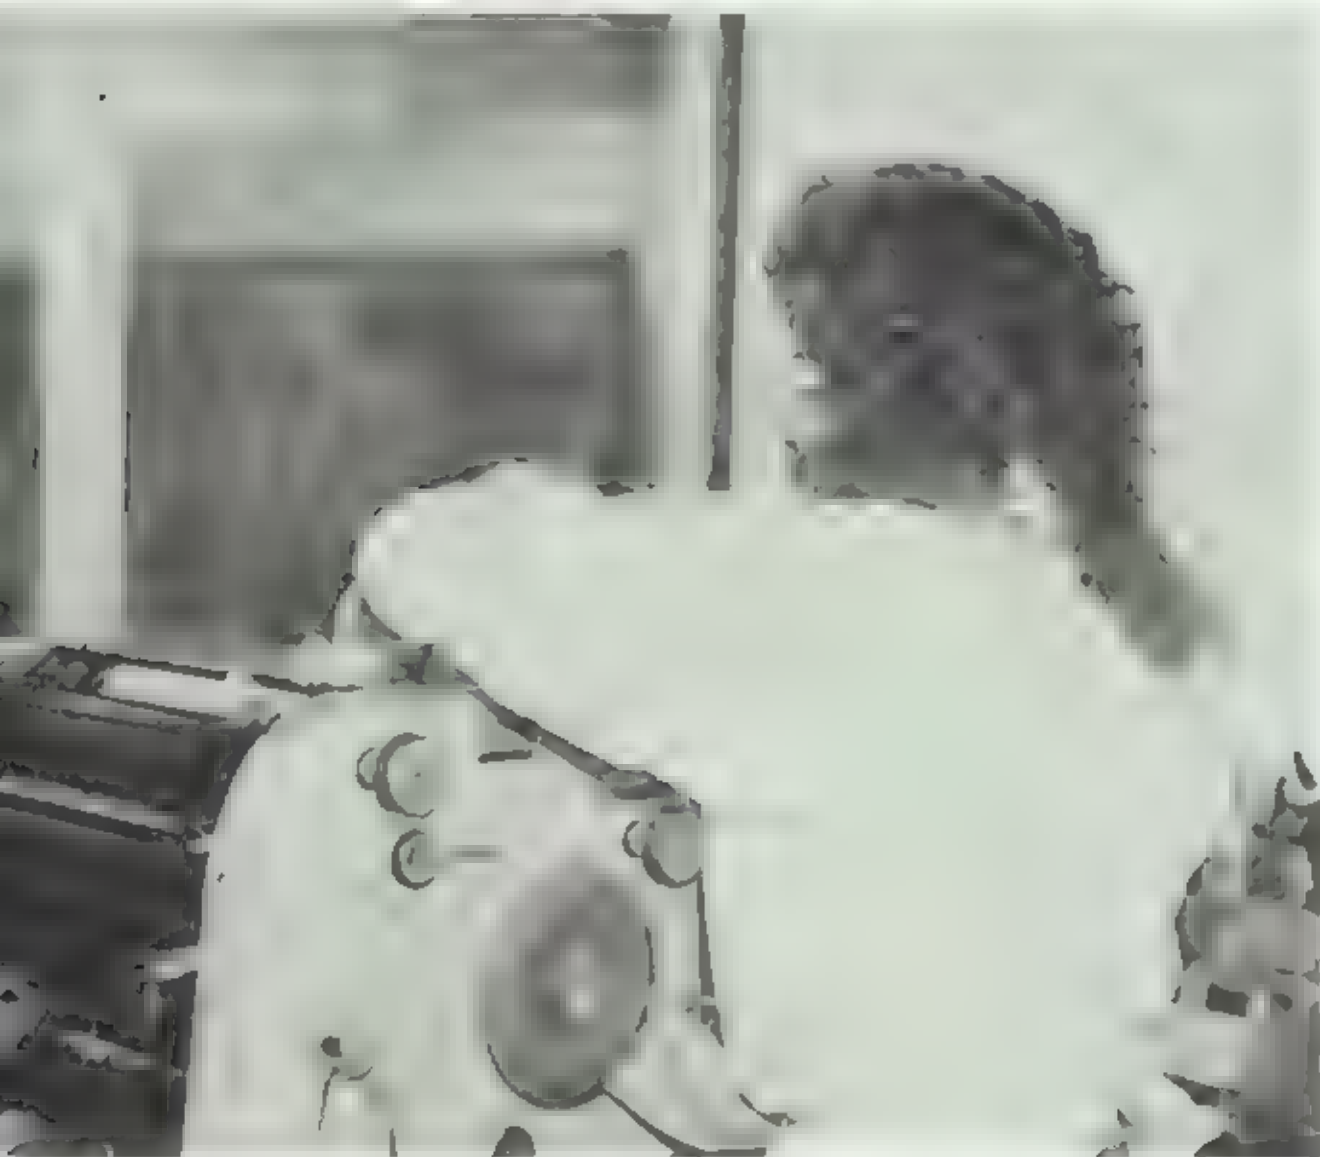

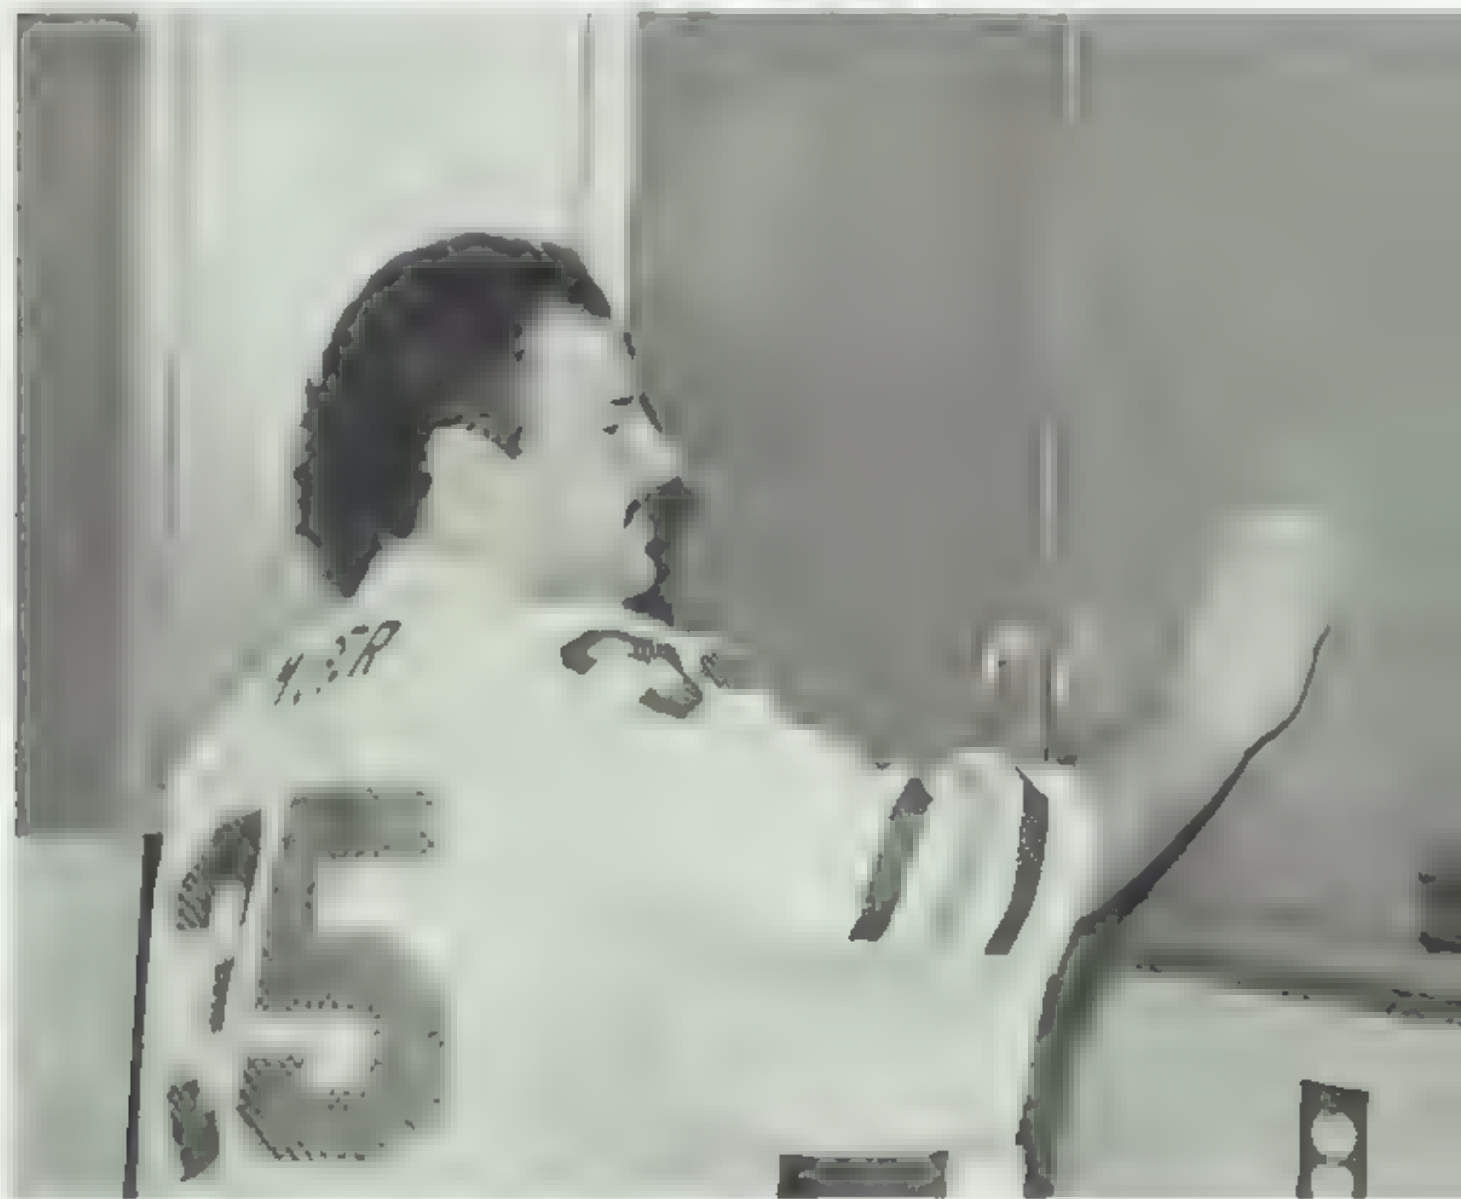

The final products of many hours of hard work done by the Home-Ec classes appeared in the window for all to see.

Heidi Stein sets up a printing machine for a graphic project.

Ag and Art Allow More Freedom

Art Class is taught by Mr. Jeff Prentice. Mr. Prentice assigns a number of projects to be completed by the students throughout the year. Although Art Class requires attention to detail and diligent work, many students find the class a refreshing change from the other more restrictive classes at Norwell. Students learn such skills as shading, and how to work with different types of paints and pencils, and are encouraged to fully develop their creative potential. The class is structured in order to let the student work at his own pace. Each student is encouraged to use his own ideas.

Agriculture, like art, is a refreshing change from the other more restrictive classes at Norwell. In agriculture there are many different activities that are done. The students have projects dealing with the care of domestic animals, and also the growing of different crops. Some students are allowed to judge for FFA. Agriculture class is a creative class and a change from the more restrictive classes.

Choir is a fun activity in school and out of school, but it requires skill and precision. Choir activities include memorization, learning how to sight read, and working hard! The classes offered are Choir I, Choir II, Gold Choir, and Swing Set, which is Norwell's Swing Choir. Choir I and Choir II students learn about the basics of vocal training. Gold Choir and Swing Set require tryouts.

Miss Dowden is trying to get more boys involved in all the choir classes. She feels that if more boys were interested in participating, choir would have a greater vocal depth.

Some students in Choir participated in the ISSMA contest in Indianapolis. Nobody that went to state got less than a second place medal. Although choir involves much hard work and requires skill and precision, it is an activity enjoyed by many students.

Seniors Lead Swing Set

One of the most prestigious performing groups at Norwell is Swing Set. Swing Set is Norwell's swing choir. Members travel to places around the community and sing and dance. This year the group went to Chicago for the annual "Showstoppers" show. Members stayed for four days and performed marvelously. This trip brought everyone together. Swing Set made everyone at Norwell very proud. It also hosted the annual extravaganza. This included many solos by the students involved with the group. Everybody had a blast! These performers are talented. They work hard to make their group one of the best swing choirs around

The marching band spent a great deal of time and effort during late night practices from 6-10 perfecting the show, but in the end it was all worth it

During the concert band season, band members worked hard trying to perfect their playing abilities. They all worked together to decorate the gym for their big Christmas production. In February, they all performed for the Issma contest at Wayne. Each student was responsible to learn a solo or ensemble to play for the judges. Despite the change in band directors, the band had a very successful year

READ All About

Teachers and students came to the library at all times of the day to enjoy the quiet atmosphere. Many came from different classes and study halls to study and read, but that's not all. Students and faculty members of all ages came to check out and read the great variety of books. Students seemed to love the library, and as long as they abided by the rules they were always welcome. Many thanks to all the cadets who helped in the library, and a special thanks to Mrs. Carr for her hard work throughout the year. We wouldn't have a library privilege without them.

Ads

Webster's Dictionary defines advertisers as those who inform or give notice. 1987 Accolade defines advertisers as those who befriend or give lifeblood. Without these patrons, our yearbook could not survive. Many area merchants show their support by placing an ad in the yearbook. This lowers the final cost of a yearbook copy and displays the merchants' products to the public. More important, area businesses provide the jobs that make it possible for students to buy yearbooks. Nearly every Knight has held a part-time job at one time or another. We, the 1987 Accolade staff, would like to thank our advertisers for their support.

This is now. Becky Jump happily greets her next customer at Rowan Pizza.

Congrats Grad's Of 1987

Can You Imagine . . .

Scott Boone really taking Angie Baum out dancing like they did in German class?

Mr. Low actually sitting down and relaxing in the auditorium, like a good drama director?

Mr. Crago having time to stop and smile for the camera with his busy schedule between here and the middle school?

Manelle Witte and Dena Johnson really being administrators in a high school like they were in the musical Grease?

Amy Collins not smiling for the camera and having the sleeves of her t-shirt rolled up?

Mr. Folks being calm at a wrestling match?

Amy Bunch, Lars Decker, Sen Hambrick, Cindy Houck, and Chris Brown growing up to be terrorists and freedom fighters?

... Mr. Swartz not running around the school without a pencil behind his ear in case he needs it?

*a year of headaches . . .
and wonderful memories*

Being on the Yearbook Staff has been very memorable for me. The two years I've spent on the staff helped me appreciate that which I never knew. Everyone on the staff should be commended for their great work, especially Mrs. Rebecca Lambert who taught us the true meaning of team work and cooperation, as well as how to put a yearbook together. No one can ever imagine until they've been on the staff, how trying it is on everyone, be it striving for that last deadline or just trying to get along with one you would have never imagined getting along with before.

The staff is like a large family, an odd family, filled with a variety of people that represent the school as a whole. I would like to say that Dan Thiele and Karen Reef did an excellent job this year, as did all of the photographers and staff members, we needed all of you! I don't think people realize or appreciate the hard work and dedication it takes to be on the Yearbook Staff and I want to thank Mrs. Lambert for allowing me to experience it for myself.

Thanks to all the staff and good luck next year!

DETAILS

The end of the school year is quickly approaching. Seniors are busy getting their announcements and party plans organized. Juniors are sweating under pressure due to the deadline of their first and most dreaded term paper. Many of the sophomores are fretting over the notorious chemistry finals while a majority of the freshmen are having nightmares of wrecking their drivers ed car.

With "Opening Day" at hand, many students are beginning to get excited about the spring and summer sports. Whether they are trying to get a ticket to a Cubs game or hoping the next track meet won't be canceled due to rain, the spirit of sport never falters.

It's also prom time again. Girls and guys are scurrying around hoping to find a compatible date. The junior prom committee is fretting over getting the decorations done in time while the freshman and sophomore girls are dying to get noticed by a junior or senior guy who will take them to the prom.

Many are so worried about the details of finalizing the school year they forget to have fun. But a large majority of the student body sits back, slips it into neutral and enjoys the end of the ride.

Change

The 1986-87 school year started off much like any other school year, but everyone noticed some changes. There was a new vice principal to contend with, Mr. Dan Moser. A second set of doors had been added to all entranceways. Soon the classes were under way and our football team was on its way to the sectional finals. When winter rolled in, Eric Tucker was making headlines as one of the top-ranked wrestlers in the state of Indiana. In the spring, Eric became the first Norwell grappler to reach the state finals in Indianapolis. In April, students and other members of the community recreated the fifties scene with their presentation of "Grease" the musical. That same weekend, seniors, juniors, and some lucky underclassmen attended Norwell's first official after prom party. As the final days of school drew near, seniors could anticipate graduation. For underclassmen, summer would mean only a temporary break from studies. Everyone scurried around trying to get addresses and phone numbers of friends who would be departing during the summer months. Even the staff seemed ready for a short furlough. Nobody appeared too worried about the high school, though. After all, it would be ready for a fresh start when August rolled around.
